

Accounting System Design Case Study

EMJAY Process Systems turned to Enspira for help with designing a better bookkeeping and financial management system for their business. The use of cloud accounting technology has led to significant improvements to the business, providing flexibility, accurate measurement of company finances and ultimately more informed decision-making.

When did you start working with Enspira?

“We started working with Enspira three years ago (formerly Abby Practice). Our in-house accounting system was ready to retire and we were ready to use a new system.”

How did the new financial management system impact your business?

“We made the transition to Xero 18 months ago. We love how Xero has been a real asset to our business as it’s accessible anywhere. It’s led to significant changes to our accounting system and allows us to have access to our finances when offsite. The direct bank feeds are also really helpful. When an invoice goes through Receipt Bank and Xero, right away I can see the invoice in the system without needing to manually process. It has eliminated double and triple handling and reduces margin for human error.”

How did Enspira add value?

“Pete was great at designing the system to work well for our business needs and then training us on how to use it easily. I appreciate the help I’ve received with using a cloud-based system and have enjoyed learning new technology that is both user-friendly and also quick and efficient.”

What was the advantage of having your system designed by professionals?

“I would absolutely recommend Enspira to others. They were helpful, patient and kind, and easy to communicate with. I definitely recommend consulting with an expert to help set up your cloud accounting properly. It becomes easy to use from there.”

Brenda King
EMJAY Process Systems

“Pete was great at designing the system to work well for our business needs and then training us on how to use it easily.”